My Dear Brother

I take pen in hand to thank you for your last favour, such a kind Letter from my Brother demands all my attention. you say I will not take it unkindly that you give me a few words of advice no Sir, I will take it as the greatest favour if I should take it unkindly i should not be worth your notice.

that we are not made for our ſelves alone. is as evident as that we was made. how great then should be our care that we conduct well. and not repine at the station we are in since we se that riches make not happy it is a contented mind alone can make happy why then will we not be happy & contented how great should be our care to prepair for another world since this is so short the many deaths the Summer past warn us to be also ready since who knows whos turn will be next from your affectionate Sister
